Brief Description of the activity:

The Department of Political Science conducted an institutional visit to the Netaji Research Bureau, located at Netaji Bhawan (38/2, Lala Lajpat Rai Sarani, Kolkata 700020). The Research Bureau is located on the premises of the familial home of freedom fighter Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, which serves as a museum. The Research Bureau has painstakingly preserved artefacts, mementoes, and documents which sketch a narrative of the larger politics of the day, enabling a visualisation of multiple facets of politics. The visit concluded with surveying the Sisir Bose Conference Room on the ground floor and the bookstore.

Outcome:

This visit also helped create timelines that tie Bose's politics to national and international politics, learn and interpret primary documents, and understand the involvement of other members of the Bose family in subsequent politics. This visit clarified Bose's politics and perspectives, which complement the portions provided in their syllabus.
