Professor Kaushik Hati, Assistant Professor of Economics, Deshabandhu Mahavidyalaya, Chittaranjan and Executive Secretary (Honorary), STAREBS was also present. In the workshop on Entrepreneurship, Employability and Skilled Development: The Role of Market Linked Data Science' organized by STAREBS, under the aegis of RUSA 2.0, University of Calcutta, 10 students of Shri Shikshayatan College had successfully participated and awarded. In the programme these students were felicitated by Prof. Marjit. Thereafter Prof. Marjit shared his thoughts with the audience. He expressed the reasons for the birth of his brainchild STAREBS. Besides, he wholeheartedly appreciated the seriousness with which our students did the 60 hours Internship under the organization. From STAREBS, three speakers out of 10 were selected to make a presentation in front of the audience. The first presentation was done by Krittika Mitra, a Semester V student of Department of Sociology. Her presentation was on "From Silence to Solidarity: How the RG Kar Case sparked a Digital Feminist Movement". She focused on Qualitative comparative content analysis of 80 posts across Instagram, Facebook and twitter using purposive sampling and sociological theories of framing and collective consciousness. The second presentation was done by Madhuja Bhowmick, a Semester V student of the Department of Economics. The topic of her deliberation was "Balancing Industry and Nature: How Manufacturing, Forestry and renewable Waste Shape Clean Transition". In her work she did a balanced country panel (2001-2023); correlation analysis and random effects GLS Modelling of environmental and economic variables. The third presentation was made by Rupsa Mukherjee, a Semester III student of Department of English. Her topic was 'Genre based Sentimental Analysis: A Study to show how various genres of video contents has different sentiment and reactions from the audience. In her work, she has done an analysis of youtube comments using sentiment analysis

to compare audience perceptions and reactions across different genres of video content, examining variations in positive, negative and neutral sentiments through comparative text analysis.

OUTCOME OF THE FDP

The programme was highly successful as Prof Marjit declared that Shri Shikshayatan College holds a special place in the course of journey of STAREBS. A student who had once been with STAREBS will always continue to be one. He said that this internship programme would help the student to pursue higher studies and even to opt for employment. The three selected students made brilliant presentations. Those in the audience were enriched by their deliberation. And above all, the felicitation of our students by Prof. Marjit added pride to our Institution.
