- BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE EVENT: The Active Learning Day was observed on December 20, 2024. The students of both the Semesters of the M.A. English Course presented group research papers, which was widely appreciated. From the vast array of literary texts dealing with the Partition, the Semester I students presented a paper titled: “A Nation Torn Asunder: Exploring the Far-Reaching Effects of India’s Partition”.

The first presentation from Semester III was titled: “Breaking Bread: The Social Fabric of Eating in Literature and Films” and the second presentation was titled: “Unscreening the Psyche of Indian Horror Directors: Analysing Space, Myth and Repression in the Metaphysics of Cinema”.

The participants were presented with a token of appreciation and participation certificates. All the papers shall find a place in the upcoming volume of the departmental journal.

- OUTCOME: The chief outcome of the Active Learning Day was to inculcate the acumen for research among the students which was very fruitfully executed with the papers that were presented. The postgraduate students learn the basic skill for research, presentation and time management, which is central to academic learning and higher education.
