- BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE EVENT: The Research Methodology Programme enabled the students to understand the nuances of academic writing. This event was a shift from the traditional classroom learning to experiential learning, where an effort was to enable the students to delve deeper into the ways of academic writing and to also facilitate them in articulating their ideas more lucidly.

- OUTCOME: The programme ignited the minds of the students towards importance of critical thinking while being engaged in academic writing. This exercise enabled the students to present their views and perspectives in a well-articulated format. Students understood some important methods related to the field, understood the practical problems faced by them while reading an academic text, as well as learnt new ways of reading and interpreting text. And most importantly students could develop confidence to move beyond the usage of academic jargons.
