Objectives of the Visit

To interact with children from underprivileged backgrounds ,To promote basic education, moral values, and creativity among students To encourage joyful learning through activities and interaction ,To extend support to the school community through social service .

As part of the Student Week activities, the National Service Scheme (NSS) unit of the University of Calcutta organised a social service visit to Saraswati Harijan Hindi Primary School, located in Tikiapara, Howrah. The visit aimed to engage with young students, understand their learning environment, and contribute meaningfully to their academic and emotional development. The NSS volunteers visited Saraswati Harijan Hindi Primary School with the purpose of social service and community engagement. Upon arrival, the team was warmly welcomed by the school authorities. It was a pleasure interacting with the Principal, teachers, and staff, who are wholeheartedly dedicated to nurturing and educating the children despite limited resources.

The volunteers spent quality time with the students by interacting, teaching basic lessons, sharing moral values, and engaging them in creative activities. The children enthusiastically recited poems, sang songs, and actively participated in conversations, reflecting their eagerness to learn and connect. Their cheerful smiles and innocent curiosity made the visit truly heart-warming.

As part of the visit, snacks were distributed among the students, which brought immense joy to them. The volunteers also motivated the children to maintain cleanliness, develop good habits, and value education as a powerful tool for shaping their future.

Additionally, it was shared that Shri Shikshayatan College extended financial support for the renovation and painting of the school building, marking a significant step towards improving the school's infrastructure. The painting work officially commenced on Friday, adding new life and colour to the learning space.

The interaction concluded on a hopeful note, with the children expressing their desire for the volunteers to visit again, reflecting the meaningful bond formed during the short yet impactful visit.
