No. of Participants:

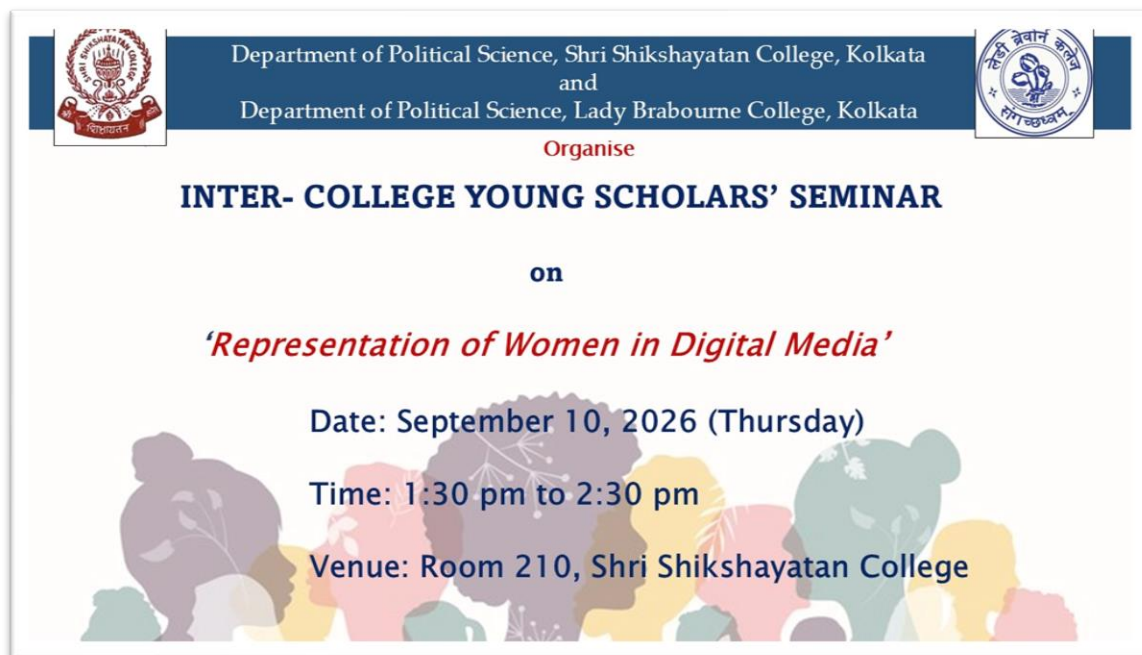

Students: 39

Teachers: 5

Brief Description of Event: The Department of Political Science of the two colleges organised an Inter-College Young Scholars' Seminar under the Memorandum of Understanding signed between them in 2023. Students from both departments, across semesters, participated in teams that prepared a collaborative presentation on the theme of "Representation of Women in Digital Media." The presentation illustrated how gender roles and perceptions of women, their bodies and their work are showcased and contested in digital media. Contextualised through advertisements, films, short series and YouTube content, the students highlighted the progressive gains in women-centric content, as well as the backlash against feminism in films that celebrate hypermasculine ideals. From debating the potential for empowerment in "tradwife" content creators to cautioning about women's job losses during COVID and reinforcing public-private divides, the presentation concluded with a lively debate among all attendees.

Outcome: The event facilitated students' collaboration across institutions as they decided on the theme and prepared presentations linked to the curriculum, as well as the poster. It strengthened their skills in literature review, public speaking, debating their points and event organisation.
